In total, around 1 billion people live in this condition today. If no action is taken, 3 billion people will live in slums by 2030.

KENYA

In Mtwapa, a town on the coast of Kenya, 7,000 households benefited from a PSUP slum upgrading pilot project implemented in 2014 by UN-Habitat in collaboration with its partners, the African, Caribbean and Pacific Group of States, the European Commission and the Government of Kenya. Clean drinking water was provided. Sewers were built and waste disposal was organised. A road network is now in the planning stage.

CASE STUDIES

GHANA

In Accra, the unique Old Town area of Ga Mashie has been undergoing upgrading by PSUP since 2008. In the two historic settlements of James Town and Ussher Town there are now paved streets and sewer systems almost everywhere. There are public and private toilets, as well as a municipal waste disposal system connected to the public refuse collection system.

WHOM ARE OUR PARTNERS?

PSUP is the outcome of a tripartite partnership initiated by the Secretariat of the Africa, Caribbean and Pacific Group of States, financed by the European Commission and implemented by UN-Habitat.

We operate through other partnerships: national and local governments, non-governmental organisations (NGOs), and other stakeholders including from the private sector or universities. And we work closely together with the communities involved.

People who lack access to some of the most basic things in life: clean water, a toilet and proper sanitation, an adequate house with sufficient living space and a safe home with secure tenure. We want to make a difference in their lives!

Arbitrarily grown, densely populated slums will become communities with a settlement structured according to planning specifications: settlements in which every inhabitant will in future have access to clean drinking water, a toilet, adequate roads, and safe living space. PSUP pursues one principle in particular: participation and initiative. Slum dwellers should have a say in how they want to live in the future and play a decisive role in the development of their communities.

PSUP focuses on the biggest challenges for slum dwellers - the lack of adequate housing and basic services.

We engage affected slum dwellers and key stakeholders to improve access to clean water, sanitation, safe housing and sound urban development, as well as future security. We support slum dwellers in building their communities, creating safe and healthy living conditions and a future of dignity and choice. We act primarily in the African, Caribbean and Pacific Group of States but also in other countries, in particular Turkey as a destination country, to promote effective slum upgrading policies and improve the living conditions of slum dwellers.
